Storage Tank Inspection and Preventative Maintenance

Applied Polymer Services (APS), a division of ENECON Northeast APS Corporation, now provides complete above ground bulk storage tank inspection and repair services. APS will work with your facility to develop both an annual and five year inspection program including written reports detailing the condition of your chemical bulk storage tanks, secondary containment structures and off-loading facilities. APS will also offer services for the repair and relining of both fiberglass and steel storage tanks. If practical and safe man-ways were not part of the original design they can be fabricated to meet the specifications of each vessel. APS, utilizing ENECON High Performance, Chemical Resistant coating systems can also repair and protect concrete containment structures around tanks and in off loading areas.

Applied Polymer Services is dedicated to providing your facility with the best in preventative maintenance procedures and life extension services using the finest polymer composites available today. Let us show you how APS can help your facility avoid costly tank failures, related chemical spills and compliance with regulatory requirements. Call us for a no obligation survey of your equipment.
